Dear Church Family,

I miss you but this ole lady just don’t give up. I think of you all often and appreciate the calls and visits. I have a leg now that is giving me lots of pain. But do keep up your prayers. I think and pray for you all, also.

MISSOURI MISSIONS OFFERING

JJ's Roast on Wheels is a food truck serving Filipino-style roasted pig called "Lecho." It's also a vehicle that shares the Good News.

Ednor Sebag and his wife, May, started a church in Springfield in 2006. Then, in 2015, Ednor developed relationships with churches in Southeast Missouri and met several Filipino-American families. The Sebags started driving four hours from Springfield once a month to hold fellowships in three cities. Then, through the SEMO Church Planting Center and with the support of local churches, the Sebags moved to Southeast Missouri.

"Last year, we started a small food-trailer business both as a means of support and, above all, as a venue to connect with people of all ethnic backgrounds so we could lead them to Christ," he says. Five new believers have been baptized, and Bible studies are held in Sikeston, Doniphan, Jackson and Puxico. The Missouri Missions Offering equips church planters to reach Missouri's many ethnic populations with the good news of Jesus Christ.
